The assessment

In this lesson I used 2 kinds of assessment, observation that the teacher does by taking notes of the students activity and a handout which is given to the students.

The observation assessment that I use in this lesson applied in Spin the Wheel game. In this session the teacher takes notes of students' understanding about like and dislike materials that have been explained earlier, the teacher will take notes if the student can express like and dislike in the right expression or not.

The handout is used to test students writing. The student have to write their friends name, the item, and they have to write if their friends like the item or not. For example, Fio said that she likes apples, so her friends have to write " Fio like apples" in the like column on the handout.

Handout:

Write down 5 of what your friends like and dislike!
